[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE RECORD-UNION.]

PROMPT ACTION.

A THRIVING SECTION.

Willows and Vicinity Reveling in the Joy of a Boom.

WILLOWS, April 25th.—Our boom assumes greater proportions daily. N. D. Riddout has sold to Colonel C. F. Crocker one section of land near the old home of the late G. W. Hoag. The purchaser intends to subdivide it into small tracts for colonization. Colonel Crocker has already sold a portion of it. No piece larger than 100 acres will be sold, and none to any but actual settlers. The land is excellent for fruit and capable of raising the finest fruit without irrigation.

K. E. Kelley has also thrown upon the market a large tract of land of equal quality for the same purpose.

Engineers are out looking over the proposed route of the West and Mendocino Railroad, beginning at this place and extending to Humboldt Bay. The Southern Pacific Company will begin to lay rails about June 1st, as far as Small's place.

Grain looks well, and the prospects are favorable for a good crop.

Property is being sold in the town of Willows. Many strangers are here looking for homes.

Association is being formed for the purpose of buying and selling real estate, and irrigation is talked of a great deal.

Throng of Tourists.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 25th.—The rush of tourists to the coast is still going on. A crowd of about twenty-five hundred guests arrived at the Palace Hotel on Friday night, and every room was brought into requisition.

Manager Hooper said that the Occidental was crowded from top to bottom.

At the Occidental the same pressure is felt, and like a wave of the Grand, Baldwin and Russ. Many travelers departed for the coast on Saturday, but their places were soon filled by incoming tourists.

The main streets, Montgomery, Kearny, Market, Sutter, Post and Geary, were thronged Saturday with residents and tourists.

The day was delightful, weather was beautiful, and agreeable atmosphere invited people out doors.

Many strangers depart daily for all portions of the interior, many of them in search of land.

Masonic Election.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 25th.—[Special.] The Grand Council of California, Royal and Select Masters, convened in annual session today at Masonic Temple. Oughton, Grand Treasurer; Grand Illustrious Master; W. F. Pierce, Grand Principal; Grand Secretary; J. H. Caswell, San Francisco; Grand Treasurer; O. C. Wheeler, Oakland; Grand Chaplain.

HOLLISTER, April 25th.—The case of Prewett and Irwin, charged with the murder of Dr. Powers, was taken up at present court, and the jury appearing for the people insisted on setting the case for trial at an early date. It was finally fixed for July 5th, and that of Prewett's testimony, was present when the shooting occurred and witnessed the proceedings. He has never been on trial, but it is thought possible to secure a jury in his case. Both are now under bonds to appear, and Alexander is held under bonds as a witness.

The Alleged Fire-Bug.

MONTREY, April 25th.—Nothing new has come to light in regard to the burning of the Hotel de Ville, and the case in the town jail since his arrest, and no one can interview him. He is the only person present in court today. Captain Curtin, who has succeeded in working the case, has been constantly on hand since the arrest, and has several of his officers, and claims to have clear case against him. The examination will not take place until Saturday.

Damages for Trespass.

BAKERSFIELD, April 25th.—A suit brought by Jerome Madden, a land agent of the Southern Pacific Company, against sheepmen for trespassing on their lands and depasturing 2,800 acres, was tried in Superior Court today, and judgment rendered in favor of plaintiff in the sum of $280 or 10 cents on the acre, the annual fee the company requires for its pasture lands in this county, as the railroad company has been found to be in the wrong.

THOROUGHLY AMERICAN.

A New York Journal's Comments On a California Girl's Taste.

WASHINGTON, April 25th.—[Special.] The Star to-night says: "It is not often that the social ambitions of millionaires of the Pacific coast commend themselves to public admiration, but the contrast between the destiny which awaited Charles Crocker's daughter and that which has been chosen for her is a most striking one."

Young women similarly placed, deserve nothing passing notice. With her fortune, Crocker's daughter is a most fortunate girl, and the fact that she is married to a man of her own rank and station is a most fortunate one.

The second race was one mile, for a purse of $400. Kaloolah was the winner, with a second, Little Misch third. Time, 1:46. Wary and Kaloolah were the favorites.

The third race was a handicap sweepstakes, nine furlongs. Favor won, Irish second, Lay third. Time, 1:58. There were ten starters. Favor and Withrow were the favorites.

Wife Murder and Suicide.

CHINA, April 25th.—The Third Persons (Kian) special says: The wife of a man here last evening of a horrible tragedy at Mortimer, a small station 12 miles west of Canton. The wife, who was known as the "Asian Limited," which will supply the American link in a through line from Canton to Asia, will be taken on by a representative in an interview with Charles Francis Adams, he in operation within a few months. It is proposed to sell coupons in Paris and London, directing to Liverpool and Havre and their Asiatic destinations. The trip from London to Yokohama and Canton can thus be made in one month, and the train will run weekly or fortnightly.

Lease of the Oregon Railroad.

NEW YORK, April 25th.—The Tribune to-morrow will say: The lease of the Oregon Railway and Navigation Company's property to the Union Pacific Railroad Company, through the medium of the Oregon Short Line Pacific, which is controlled by the Union Pacific, was signed yesterday. The terms of the lease were agreed to in November, but many obstacles prevented the accomplishment of the scheme.

CITY OFFICIAL PAPER.

The RECORD-UNION is the only paper on the coast, outside of San Francisco, that receives the full Associated Press dispatches from all parts of the world. Outside of San Francisco it has no competitor, in point of news, in its home and general circulation throughout the coast.

SAN FRANCISCO AGENCIES.

The paper is for sale at the following places: P. Fisher, Room 21, Market Exchange; also at the San Francisco, Grand and Palace Hotel; News Stand, Market Street, Ferry Building; and at the Market and Montgomery Street News Stands.

TO-DAY'S LEADING NEWS TOPICS.

The State Board of Health yesterday declared a quarantine against Quinquina and Malaria. Wheat and barley both had an upward tendency in San Francisco yesterday.

Some alarm is felt in Berlin over the Schnelle's arrest. The Pope offers to act as mediator in the matter.

Tramps yesterday evaded the settlers on the Winchboro reservation.

A BEER MOVEMENT.

The Alta reports San Francisco brewers as favoring a higher wholesale price for beer, not only because of the narrow margin of profit present rates leave them, but because, as one leading brewer put it, the cheapness of beer is contributing mightily to the high license sentiment. This manufacturer is reported to have said:

Cheap beer fashions a club to break our own heads. At the present price two pounds of beer can be obtained for five cents. It is enough to make a woman drunk, and it is doing it to an alarming extent. As beer is sold at the corner groceries where laboring men get their supplies, beer cuts a large figure in the bills. The women come together in certain localities while their husbands are out in work, and pass the time in idleness, gossip, and beer drinking. The children are kept going backward and forward between the grocery and the corner, and the beer with the beer. This demoralizes them as the drink demoralizes the man. The women, indulged in, in such quantities as the present low retail price permits. The depressing effect on the laboring men, whose wives manage to get into a state that forbids good housekeeping or decent habits, on the one hand, and the very well imagined. This sort of thing is producing a strong sentiment among the better class of people in favor of a license enough to prevent corner groceries from selling beer. The sentiment is growing, and it is not to be opposed to the manufacture and sale of beer, but who wish to check the enormous habit of family drinking. We wish to see a half-cent a drink and disarm it by arranging a schedule of prices that will check the growth of family drinking to excess.

THE WOOL QUESTION.

True to its nature, the San Francisco Chronicle misrepresents the wool question, by saying that it is claimed Eastern wool manufacturers will be sent here to compete with our woolen manufactures as far East as our exports can be sent; or, as it holds, to Utah, Colorado and Wyoming. What is claimed is, that Eastern wool goods will be shipped here by routes unaffected by the interstate law, and sold in California at rates that will undercut our own manufacturers. No one ever claimed that the East would bring wool here, carry it away by water, and return it manufactured to compete with our own manufactures in a market of its own. The Chronicle assumes we will be able to command. That journal utterly ignores the Canadian Pacific as a competing carrier unaffected by the interstate commerce law. Yet that line of transportation is now bidding to carry California wool East at precisely the same rate charged by ocean carriers, while the interstate law, forbids American roads carrying the wool at all, except at the price of forfeiture of the right to charge non-competitive points the value of service rendered them. The Chronicle has been driven to a corner, and turn which way it may, it finds no escape from the ridiculous attitude of antagonism to the producers, in which it has been placed by its argument. The whole situation amounts to this: when the operation of the interstate law stops the natural movement of wool eastward by home railroads, it paralyzes the wool-growing industry, leaving it only the faint hope of escape from ruin by shipments by the Canadian Pacific, but even at the best that remedy will not show the margin of profits in the business.

The New York Tribune figures out a somewhat less aggregate consumption per capita for 1885, namely, 11.18. But this evidently is because of a higher estimate of our population in 1885 than we have assumed. But at the showing of the Tribune the marvellous increase of beer-drinking is still sufficiently established. It is shown, however, that we are still below Germany and Great Britain. In the former the consumption of malt liquor is 23.78 per capita, and in the latter 22.70. Nevertheless the per capita is large enough.

The brewers in desiring to reduce the consumption without limiting the income from it, unquestionably fear the growth of the high license sentiment will extend to a restriction that will affect their income, and hence the disposition to meet the movement half way and thus negative its advance. For it is the history of all reforms of this character that they generally proceed to their natural possibilities. Hence the brewers are justified in the fear that cheap beer may bring about such regulation as will drive out a class of customers they cannot well afford to lose.

The movement, therefore, is one of much moment, and it will probably command a good deal of attention. It represents the financial corner of one class of liquor manufacturers endeavoring to meet and check a sentiment that threatens limitation of the manufacture.

A FIELD FOR REFORM.

A large class of the people of the north section need a word or two of rebuke and advice. If those at home do not give it, then from abroad will. There is coming into the State now a tide of tourists and permanent immigration. A strong current of it is coming northward, and it is to be expected that it will be a good deal more than what it is. There is no beauty-spot in all Southern California that has not been artificially made. It is the application of human energy that has made Pasadena world-famous for its loveliness, and the miles of shaded avenues, palm trees and alancas of Southern California the subjects of praise in all the land. The beautiful scenes, lovely drives and well-kept homes in Southern California are every one the product of personal effort, and not great effort at that. Every man has to come down to very plain words, cleaned up his premises and kept them clean; planted trees and cultivated shrubs, used brush and paint-pot freely, and made even the humblest home beautiful beneath shade and vine, and the simple grounds lovely with flowers and shrubs. But the traveler in Northern California, fresh from scenes of Southern beauty, to his surprise finds with us far greater capacity of soil and climate for all these things unused save in some few towns, and here and there about a few residences. He looks out upon miles and miles of dusty, worn and ill-kept roads; upon hundreds of farm-houses where apparently flower, tree and grass plant are unknown; upon school-houses located on dry, barren knolls, with never so much as a sheltering bough or a flowering shrub in sight. The very common exclamation of the visitor is one of extreme surprise at the state of affairs. With the capacity of Central and Northern California, there is not one of the paradises of Southern California that may not be reproduced and far surpassed. That they have not been is legitimately due to the large land-holding system, and the devotion to grain-growing. We have been giving too, so much attention to money-getting that we have almost wholly overlooked the money value of the sentimental, and helpfulness of beautiful surroundings.

Within the next three years, if the people can be aroused to a proper sense of duty, Northern California's settled sections can be made to change the whole face of their appearance for the better. If every man will plant here and there a tree upon the roadway, clear up in front of his premises, banish disorder, give a little time to arboriculture and floriculture and the beautifying of home surroundings; if every one will reflect upon the impression decay doorways and littered, unsheltered roads make upon the visitor fresh from sections where civilization has brought the land to the highest state of culture, and where cleanliness and neat surroundings are esteemed indications of respectable character; and their absence the reverse, we will revolutionize the entire aspect of our section. Its capacity for adornment is nowhere equalled, the expense is nothing if each will do a little; the benefits are beyond estimate.

A GREAT STOCK RANCH.

One of the Finest Breeding Farms in the County Located in Butte County.

ENS. RECORD-UNION: Butte has long been noted for its fine stock of all kinds. The sheep of her plains and foothills have produced wools that have been eagerly sought after by Eastern buyers and local manufacturers.

Her cattle in the open days of native clover and wild oats, before the plow drove the herds before it, were in ready demand in all our markets. Her horses have been noted as the best in the State. Her love and appreciation of all kinds of domestic animals has been a distinguishing characteristic of the people of Butte county. There are few places in this country of fine stock where finer draft, road and farm horses are seen than in and around Chico.

It was called upon to say which county of this State had the best farm horses, I should be compelled to say that Butte county, and not only so, but it has the price eternal of vigilance. Philadelphian North American.
